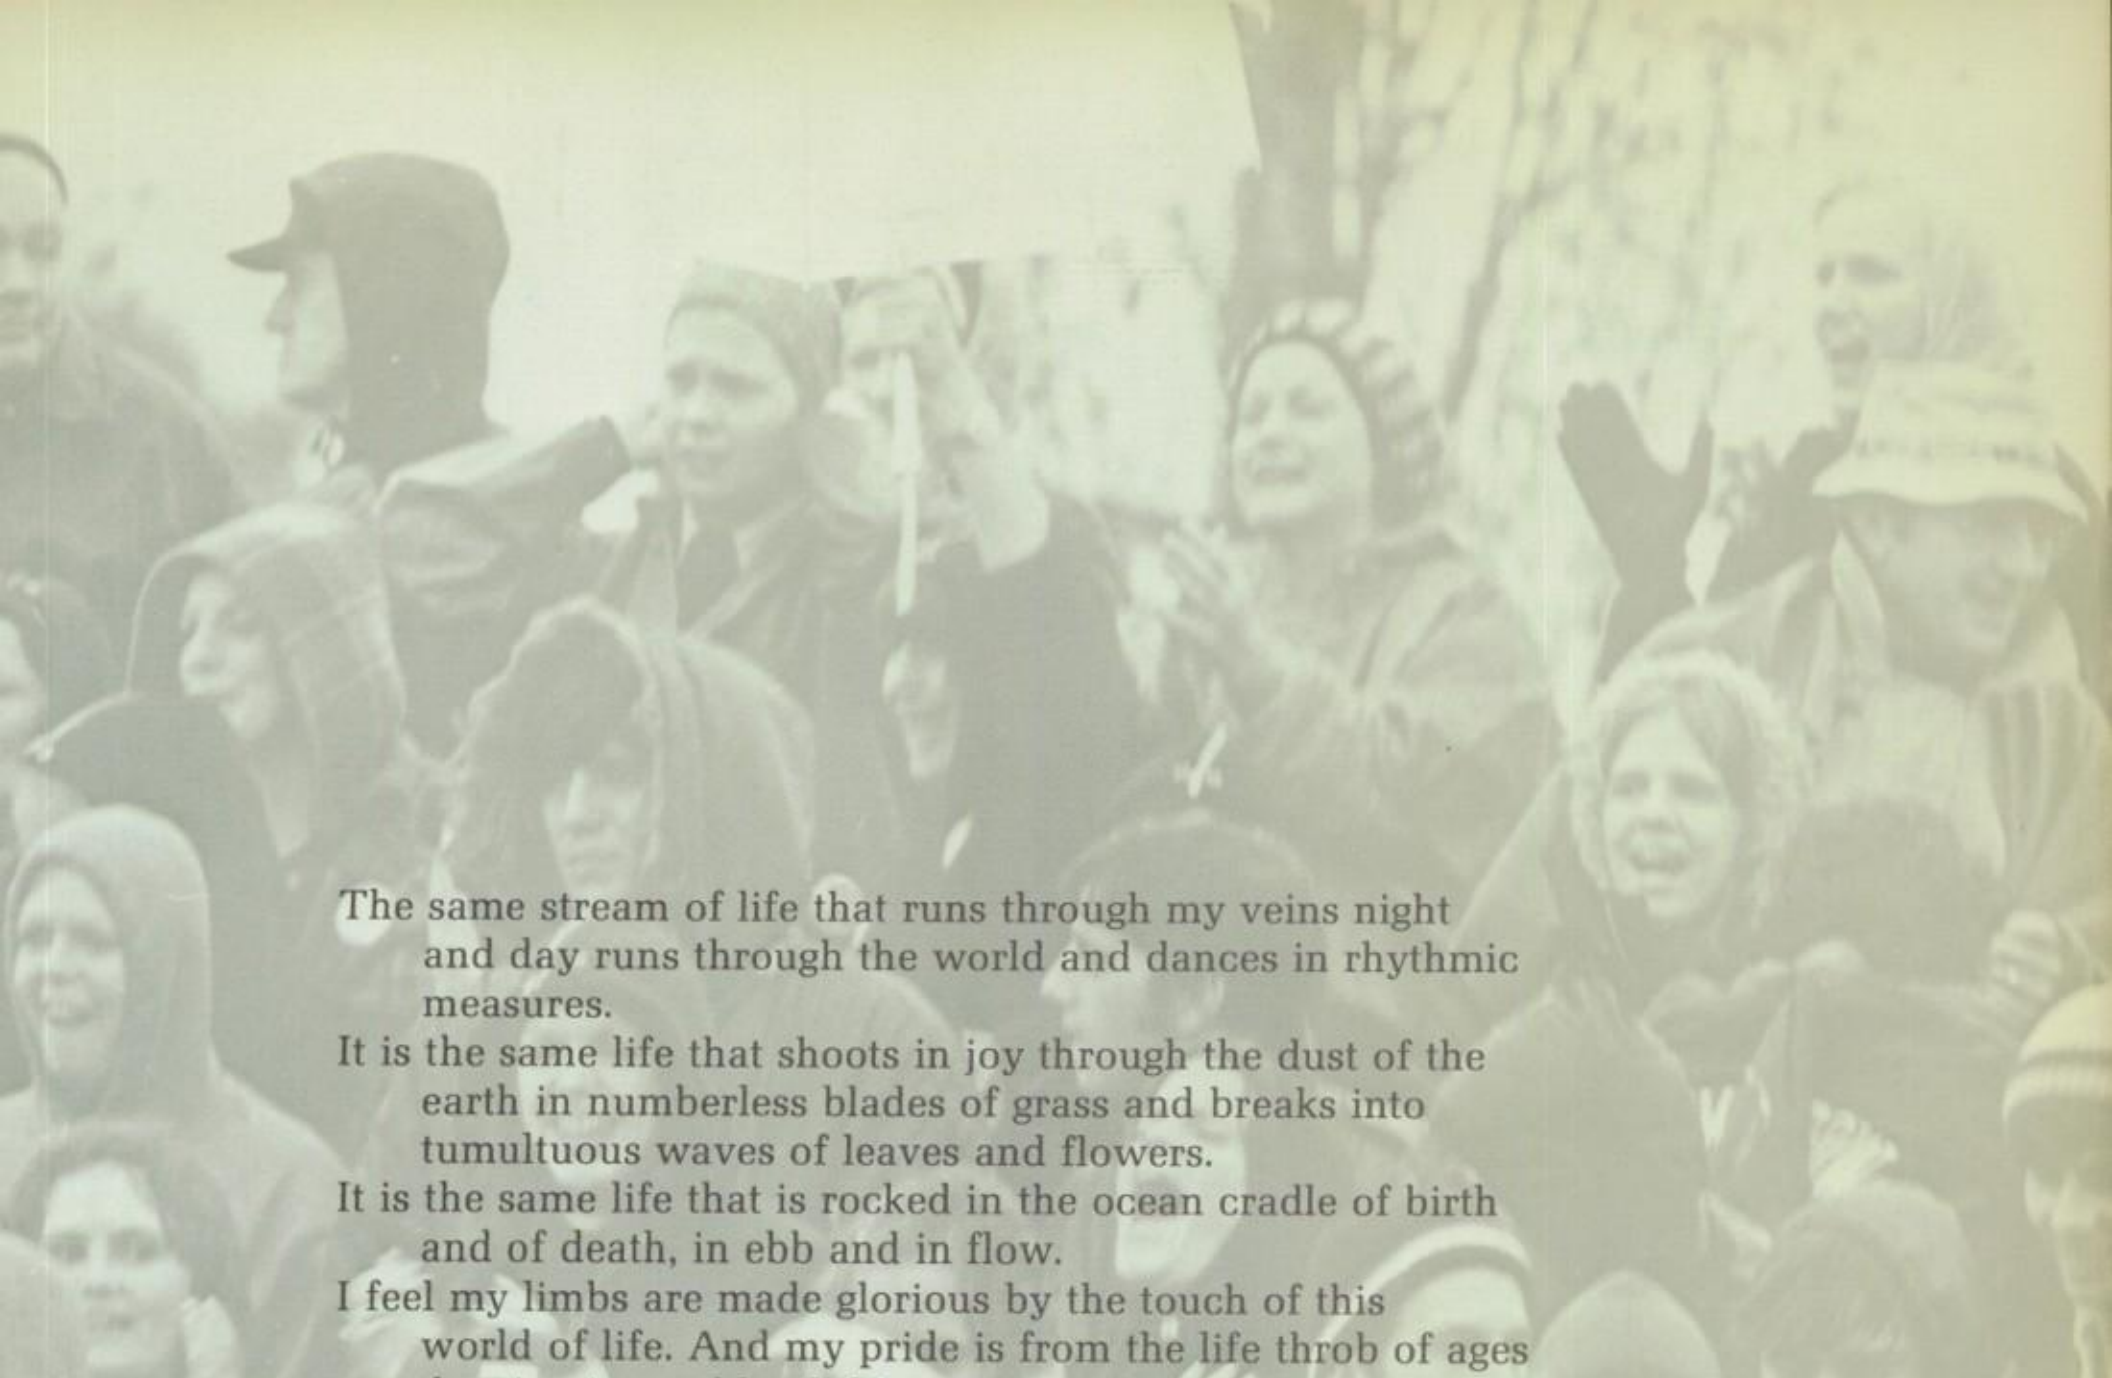
RÉSUMÉ 1973
East Meadow High School
East Meadow, New York



The same stream of life that runs through my veins night and day runs through the world and dances in rhythmic measures.
It is the same life that shoots in joy through the dust of the earth in numberless blades of grass and breaks into tumultuous waves of leaves and flowers.
It is the same life that is rocked in the ocean cradle of birth and of death, in ebb and in flow.
I feel my limbs are made glorious by the touch of this world of life. And my pride is from the life throb of ages dancing in my blood this moment.

Is it beyond thee to be glad with the gladness of this rhythm? To be tossed and lost and broken in the whirl of this fearful joy?
All things rush on they stop not, they look not behind, no power can hold them back, they rush on.
Keeping steps with that restless, rapid music, seasons come dancing and pass away — colors, tunes, and perfumes pour in endless cascades in the abounding joy that scatters and gives up and dies every moment.

The water continually flowed and flowed and yet
it was always there;
it was the same
and yet every moment it was new.

— Hesse

The visions of our past Become clouded through passing time.

The foolish whims,
Which once so intrigued us,
Are vague fragments of yesterday.

We being more sophisticated,
Denounce our younger youth.
We feel we've changed,
Having grown so much older,
So much wiser.

Yet we still fantasize our days to come with high hopes and dreams.
As we once fantasized those days years ago.

We seek to find our tomorrows of today,
Though never did we find,
Our tomorrows of yesterday.

The search continues on,
As one of life's journeys.
Perhaps,
An ever lasting one.

Robin Greenwood

Many people come and go through the doors of my life taking what they need and giving what they can
Our moments were only seconds of a lifetime
but so important because we shared what we could Only a glimpse of the sun but enough to warm the heart.

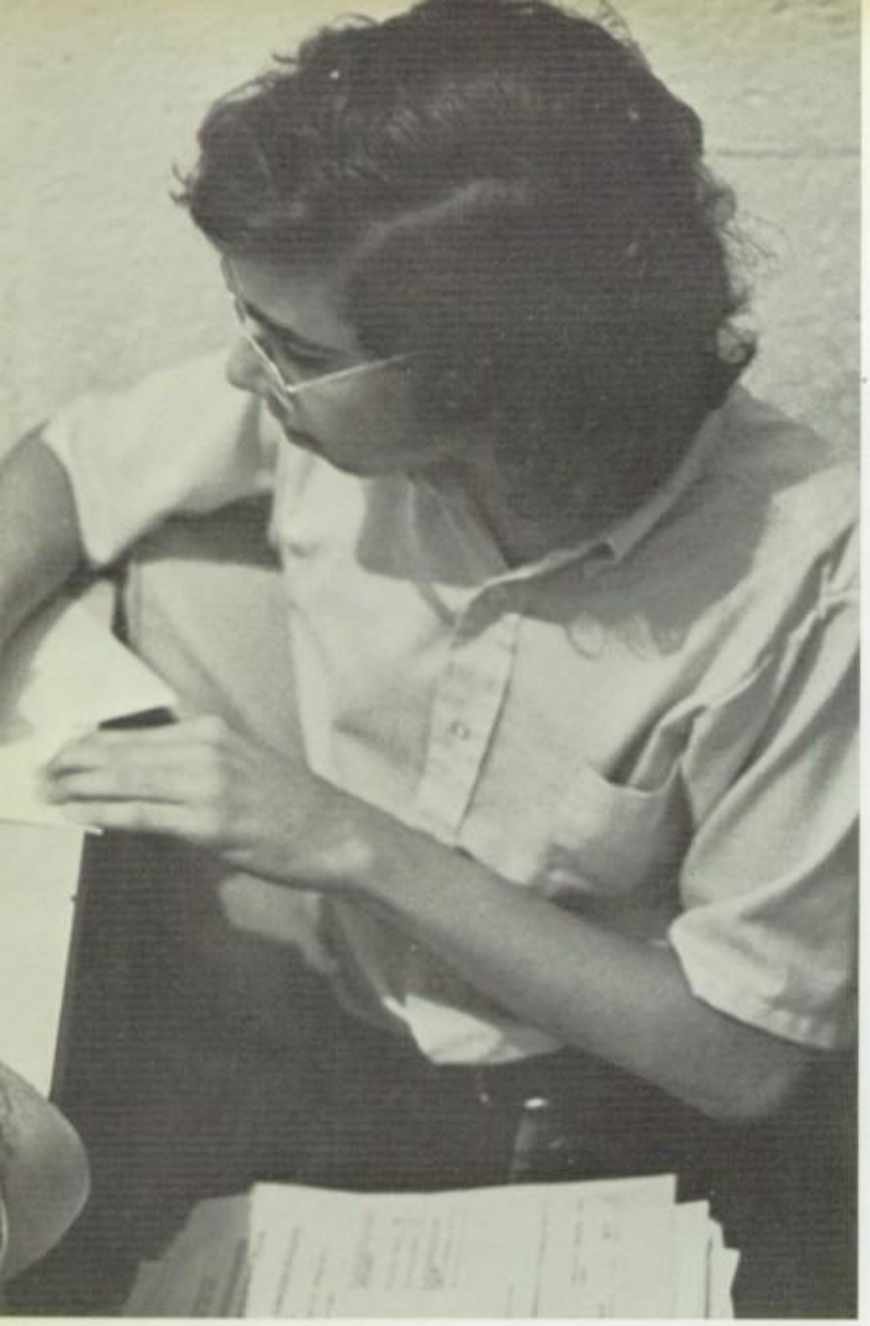
George Betts



Where there is much desire to learn, there of necessity will be much arguing, much writing, many opinions, for opinion in good men is but knowledge in the making.

Language is not an abstract construction of the learned, or of dictionary makers, but is something arising out of the work, needs, ties, joys, affections, and tastes of long generations of humanity and has its bases broad and low, close to the ground.

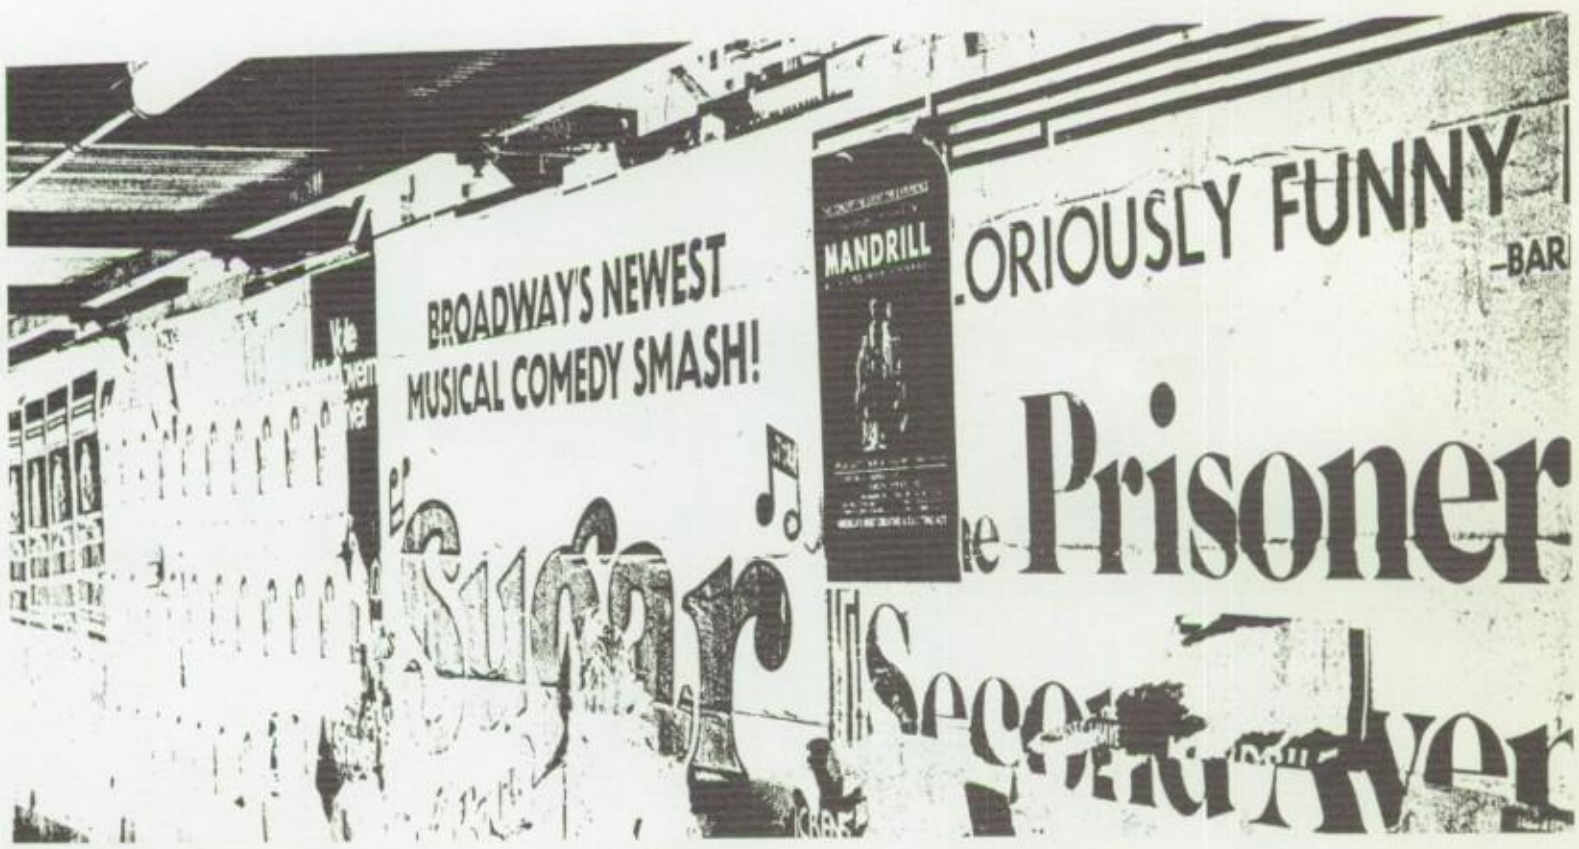
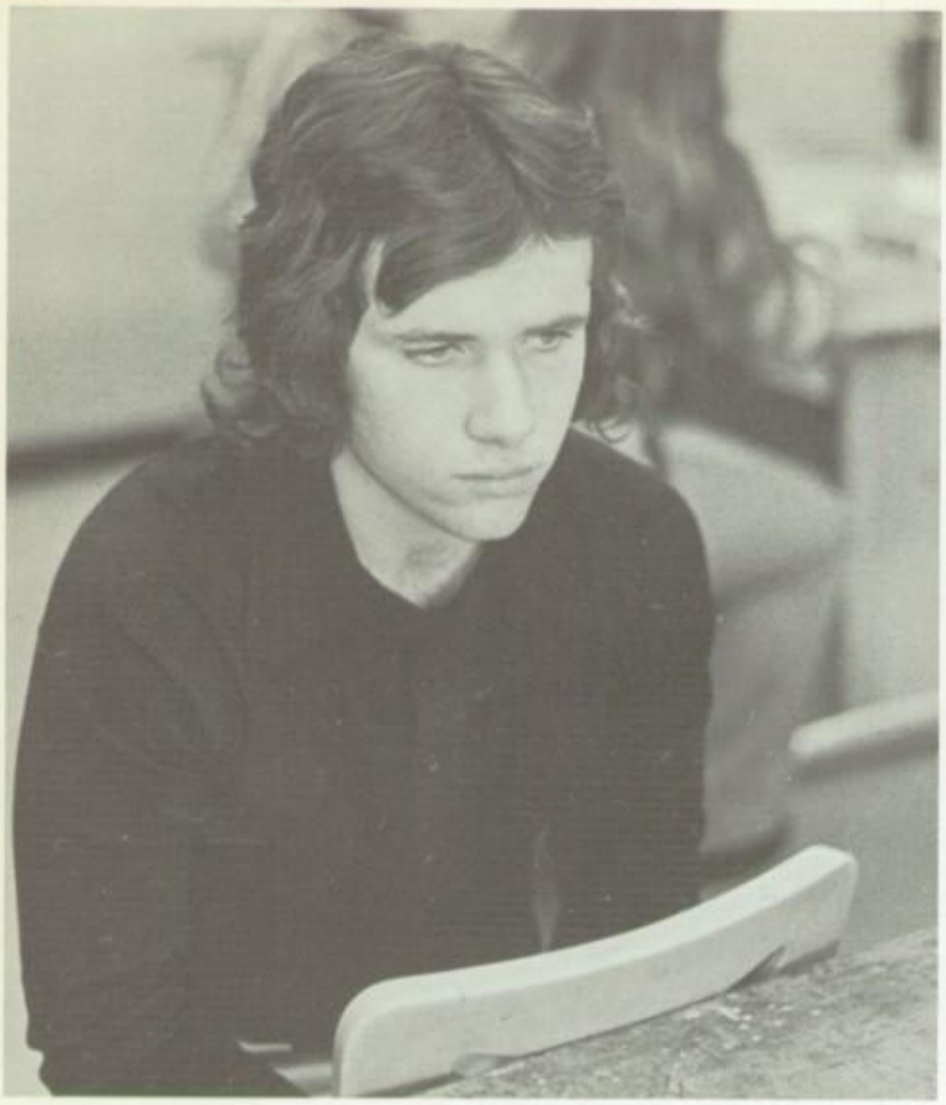
Build castles up, then pull them to the ground; keep changing round for square and square for round.

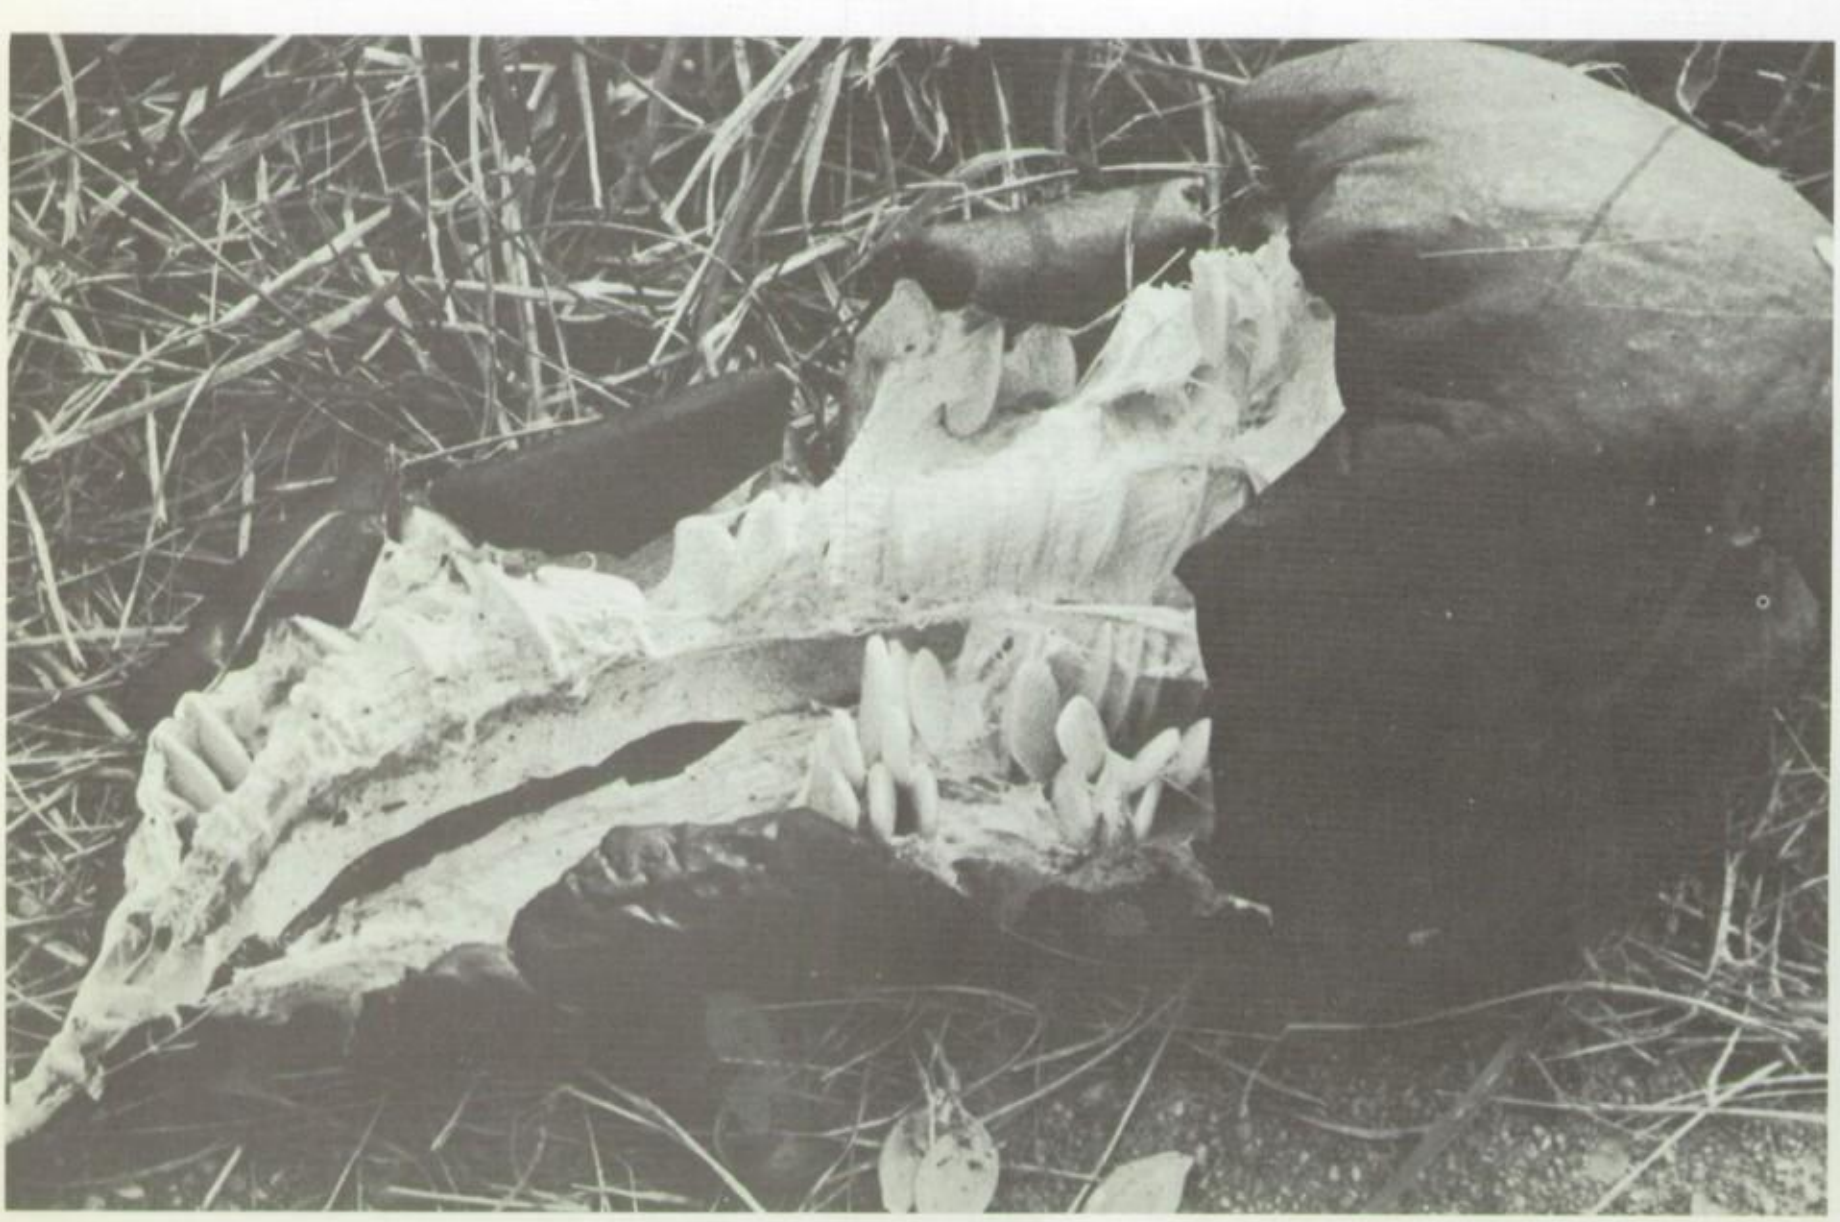
Corington

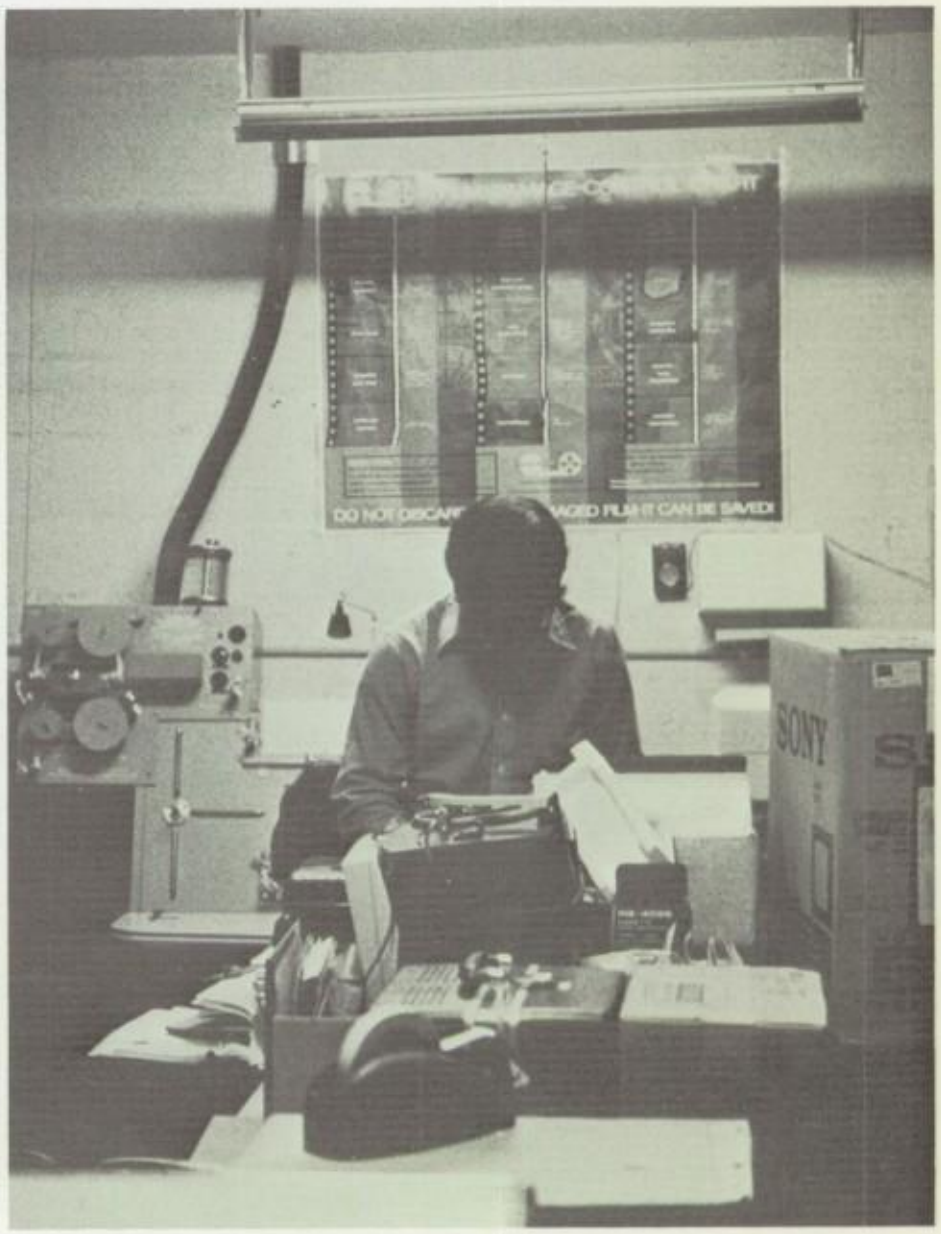




We do not succeed in changing things according to our desire, but gradually our desire changes. The situation that we hoped to change because it was intolerable becomes unimportant. We have not managed to surmount the obstacle, as we were absolutely determined to do, but life has taken us round it, led us past it, and then if we turn round to gaze at the remote past, we can barely catch sight of it, so imperceptible has it become.

Marcel Proust





SONY

Mankind's general failure is failure to communicate. The tragedy of men and women is not that we die, but that we die before we have had a chance to communicate to others our pitifully small understanding of ourselves. Literature is but a magnificent protest against this inability, as are indeed all the arts. War, injustice, intolerance from the other side of the picture: They are the monstrous proofs of man's inability to talk to man . . .

Dear Lisa,
There are so many things I could write to you, Sgt. Frankel (move that bucket, as the Spanish would say!), but I'll leave the cruel things out this time (tee hee!).
Yearbook time is a time to be nice and sentimental + kind, so let me get on with it. Lisa, getting to know you has been a really strange (or as you would say: "weird") experience - I'm glad you persevered and we finally got to be really friends. I thank you for being there through the bad times (Richie, depression) and the good ... too (chemistry, 10th grade).
I love you Lisa.

In Memory of Barbara Baldwin:

The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want. In pastures of tender grass he causes me to lie down; beside still waters he leads me.

My soul he refreshes; he guides me in the tracks of righteousness for the sake of his name.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will not fear evil; for you are with me; your rod and your staff — they indeed comfort me.

You prepare before me a table in the presence of my assailants; you anoint with oil my head; my cup overflows.

Surely, only goodness and kindness shall follow me in all the days of my life; and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord to the utmost length of days.

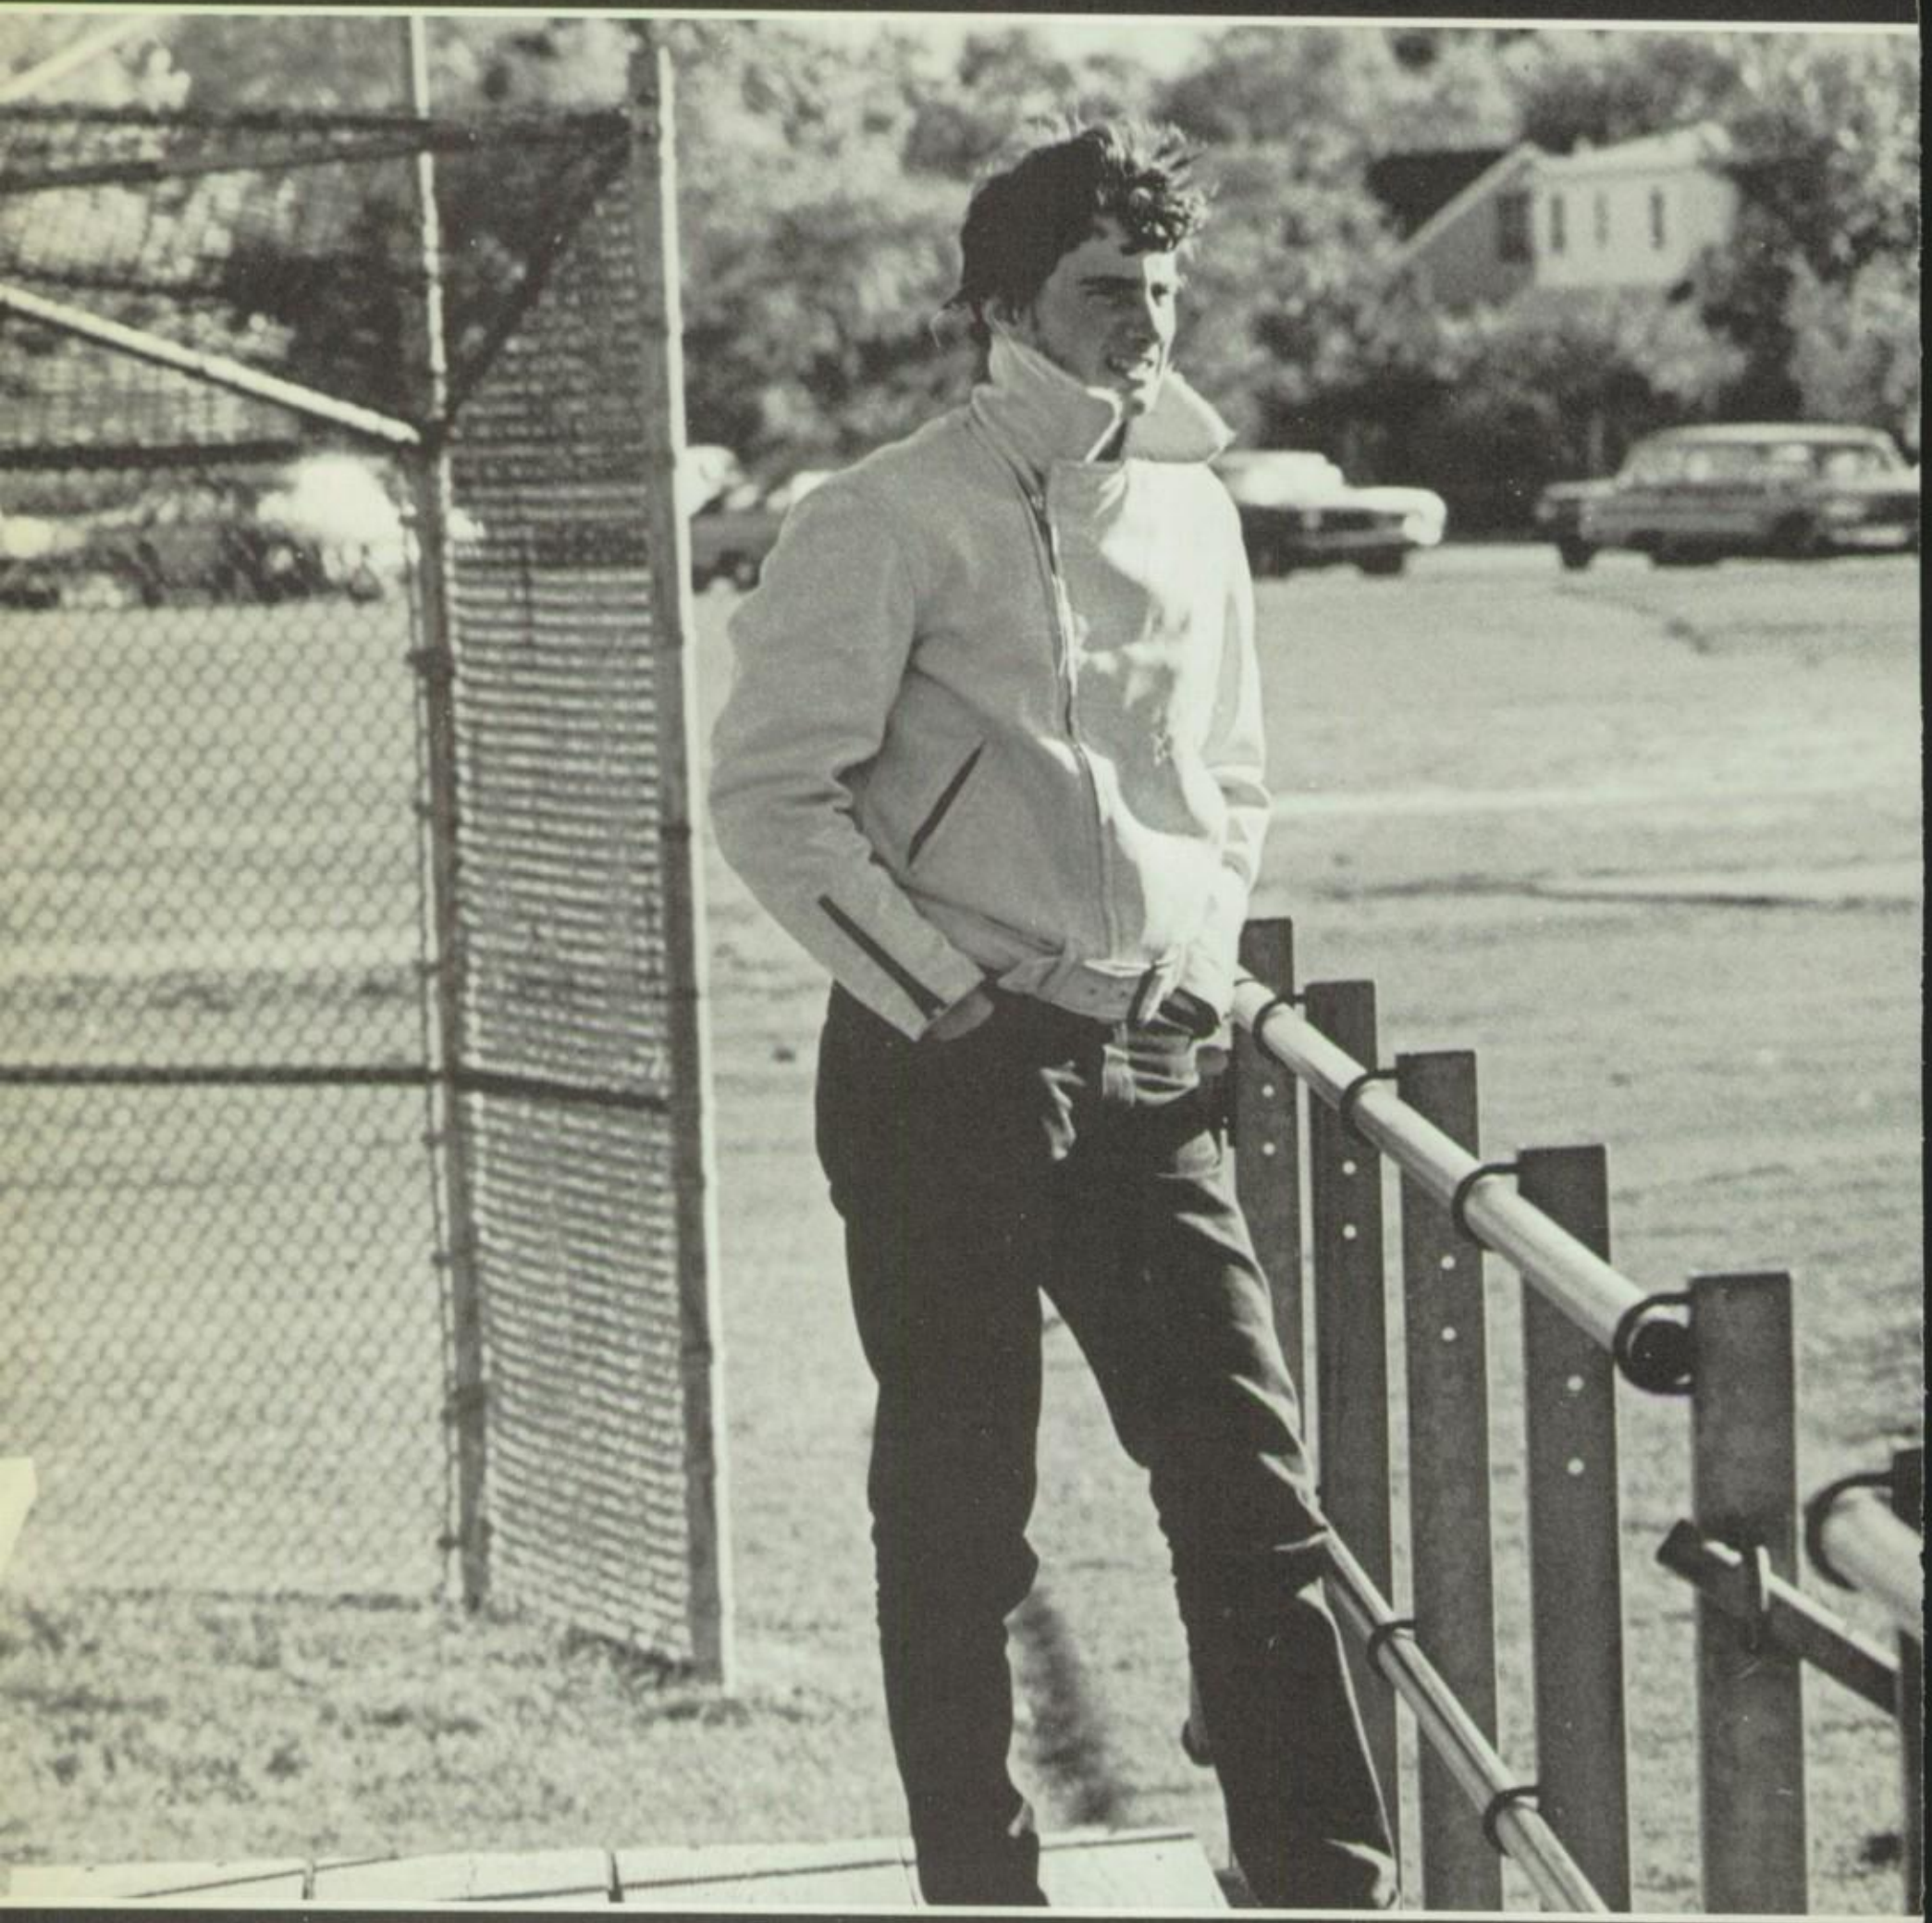
The Résumé Editors would like to thank Mr. Ted Schiffman, our advisor, Mr. Ken Sicoli, our business advisor, and Mr. John Barbour. We would like to express special thanks to Mr. Dick LoPachin of Taylor Publishing Company and Mr. Bernard Friedman and Mr. Aaron Jarit of Carol Studios for their invaluable help and interest.



So an end has come
The writing of farewells
And don't forget the time when
And keep in touch.
And all the love
You try to fit into the space beside your picture in words that will not come, coupled with the ache
of saying goodbye to your best friend of God-knows-how-many-years, and your room
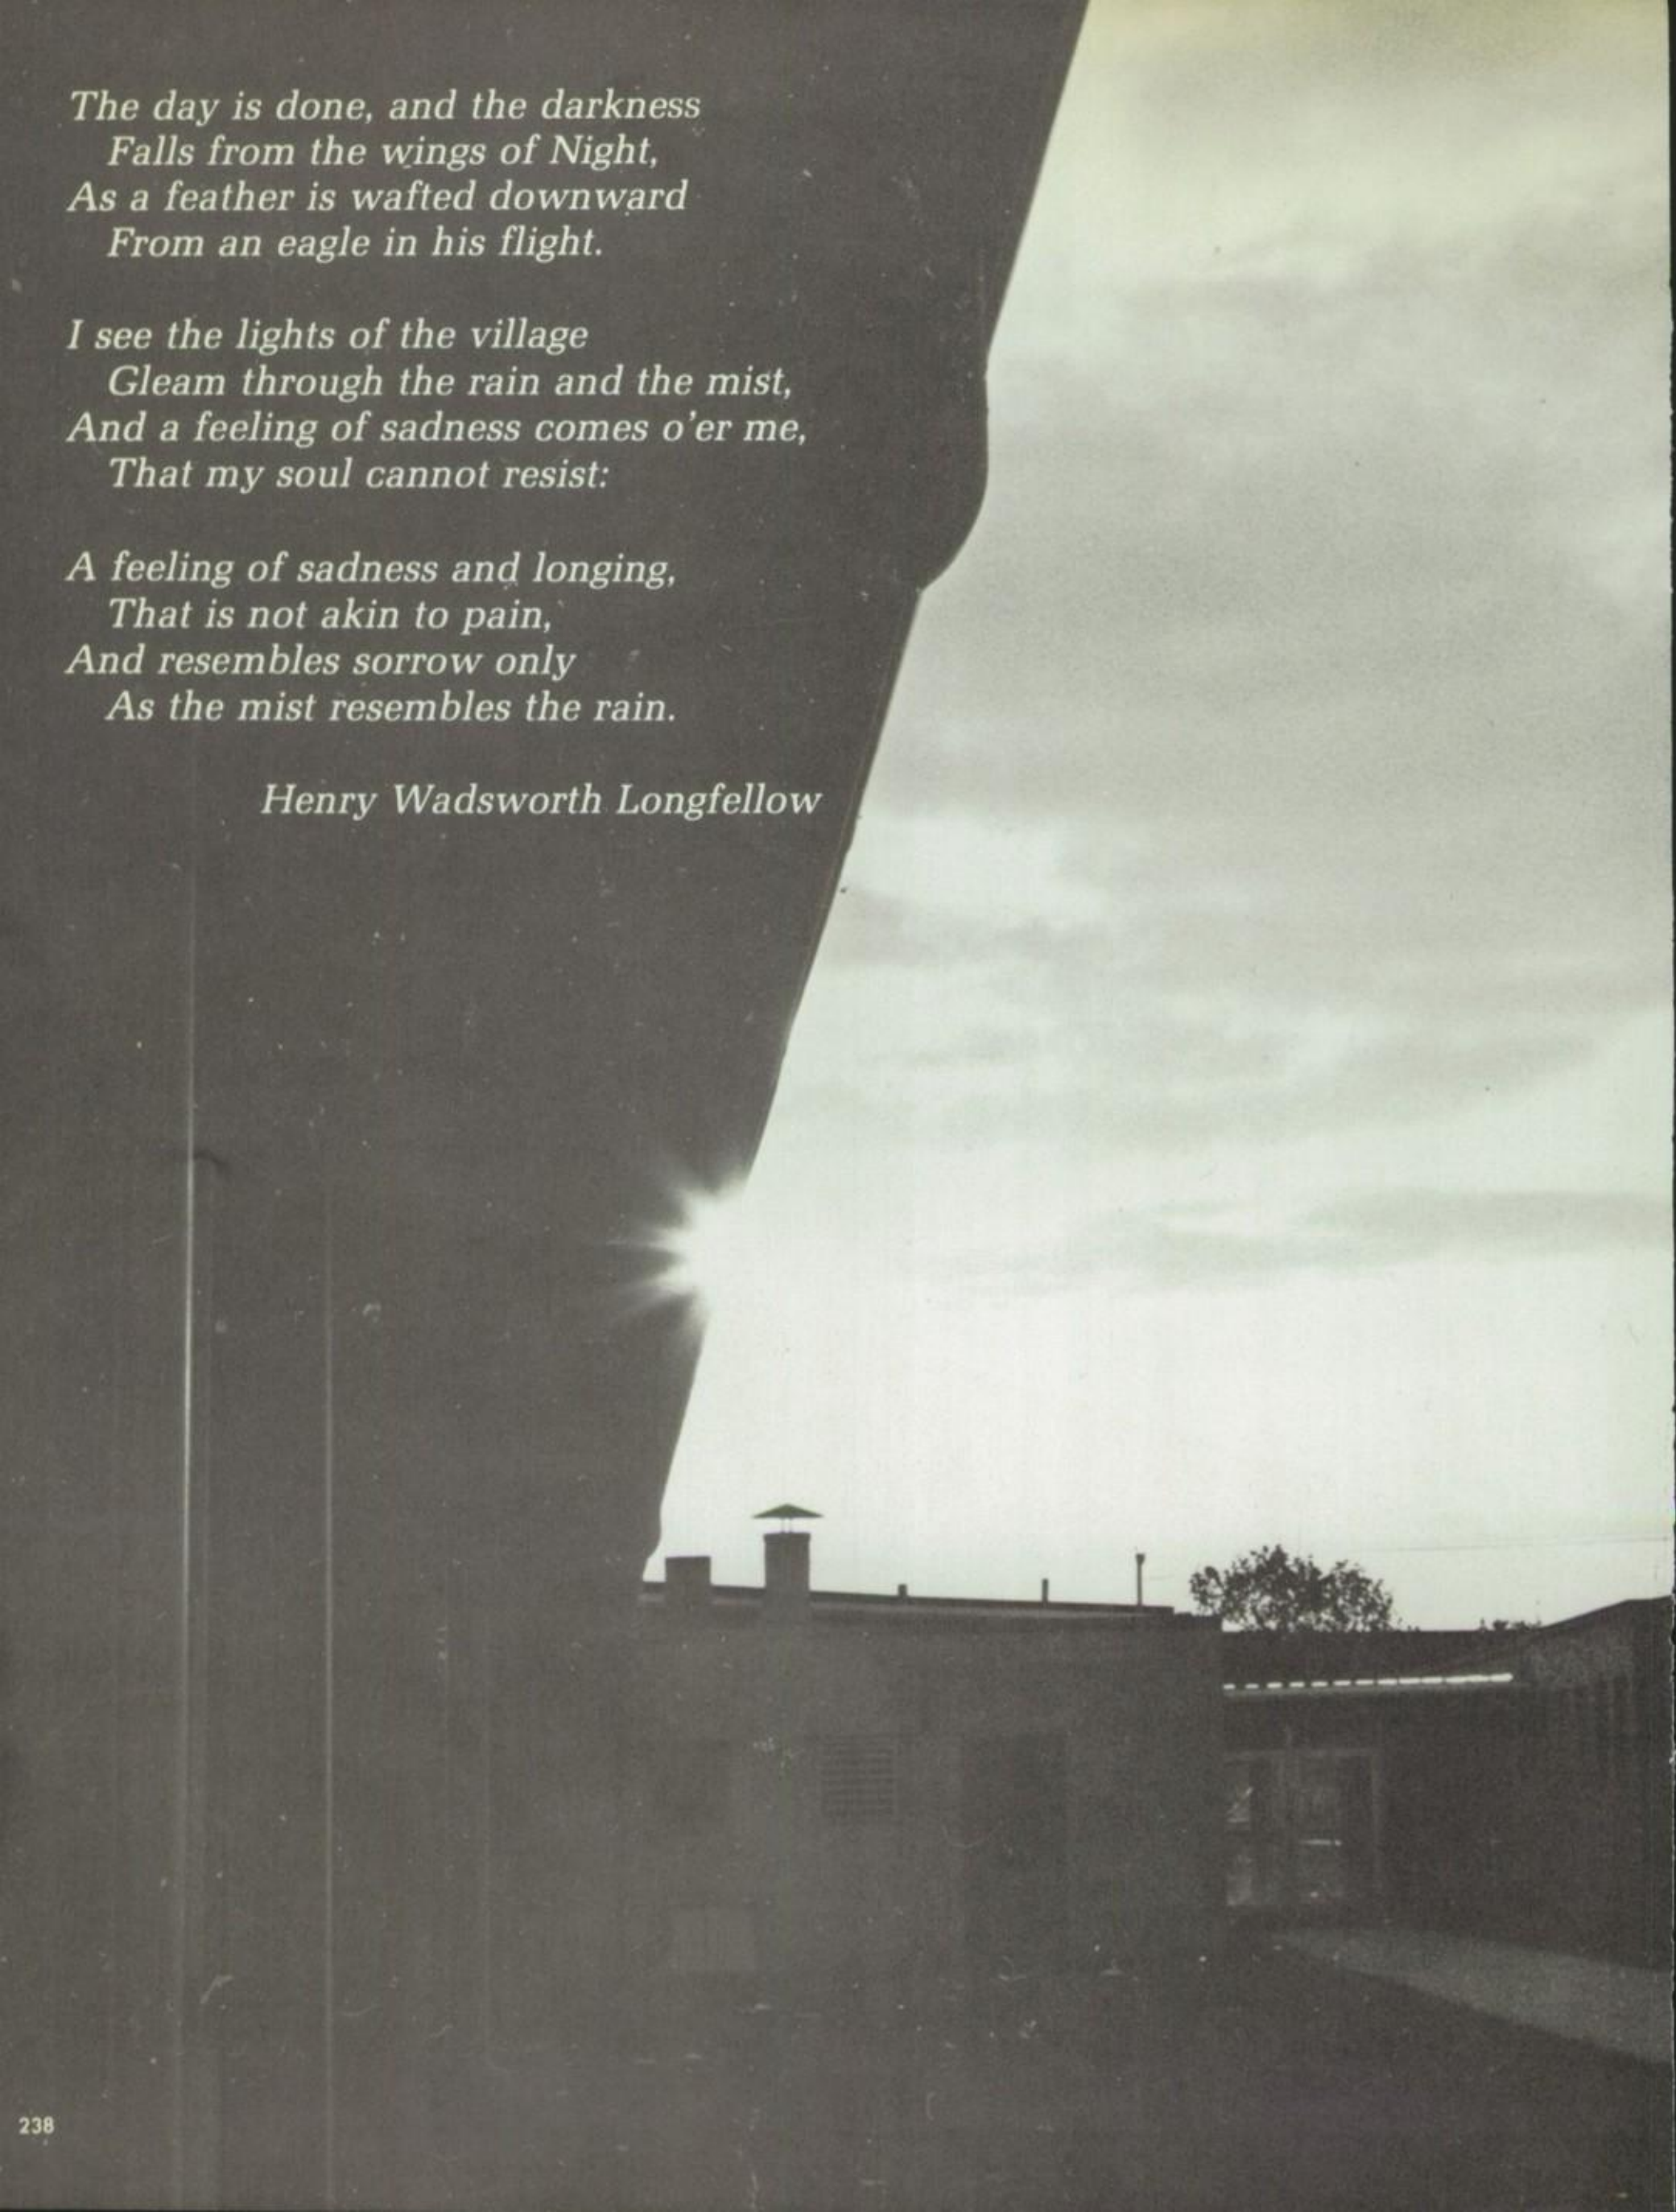
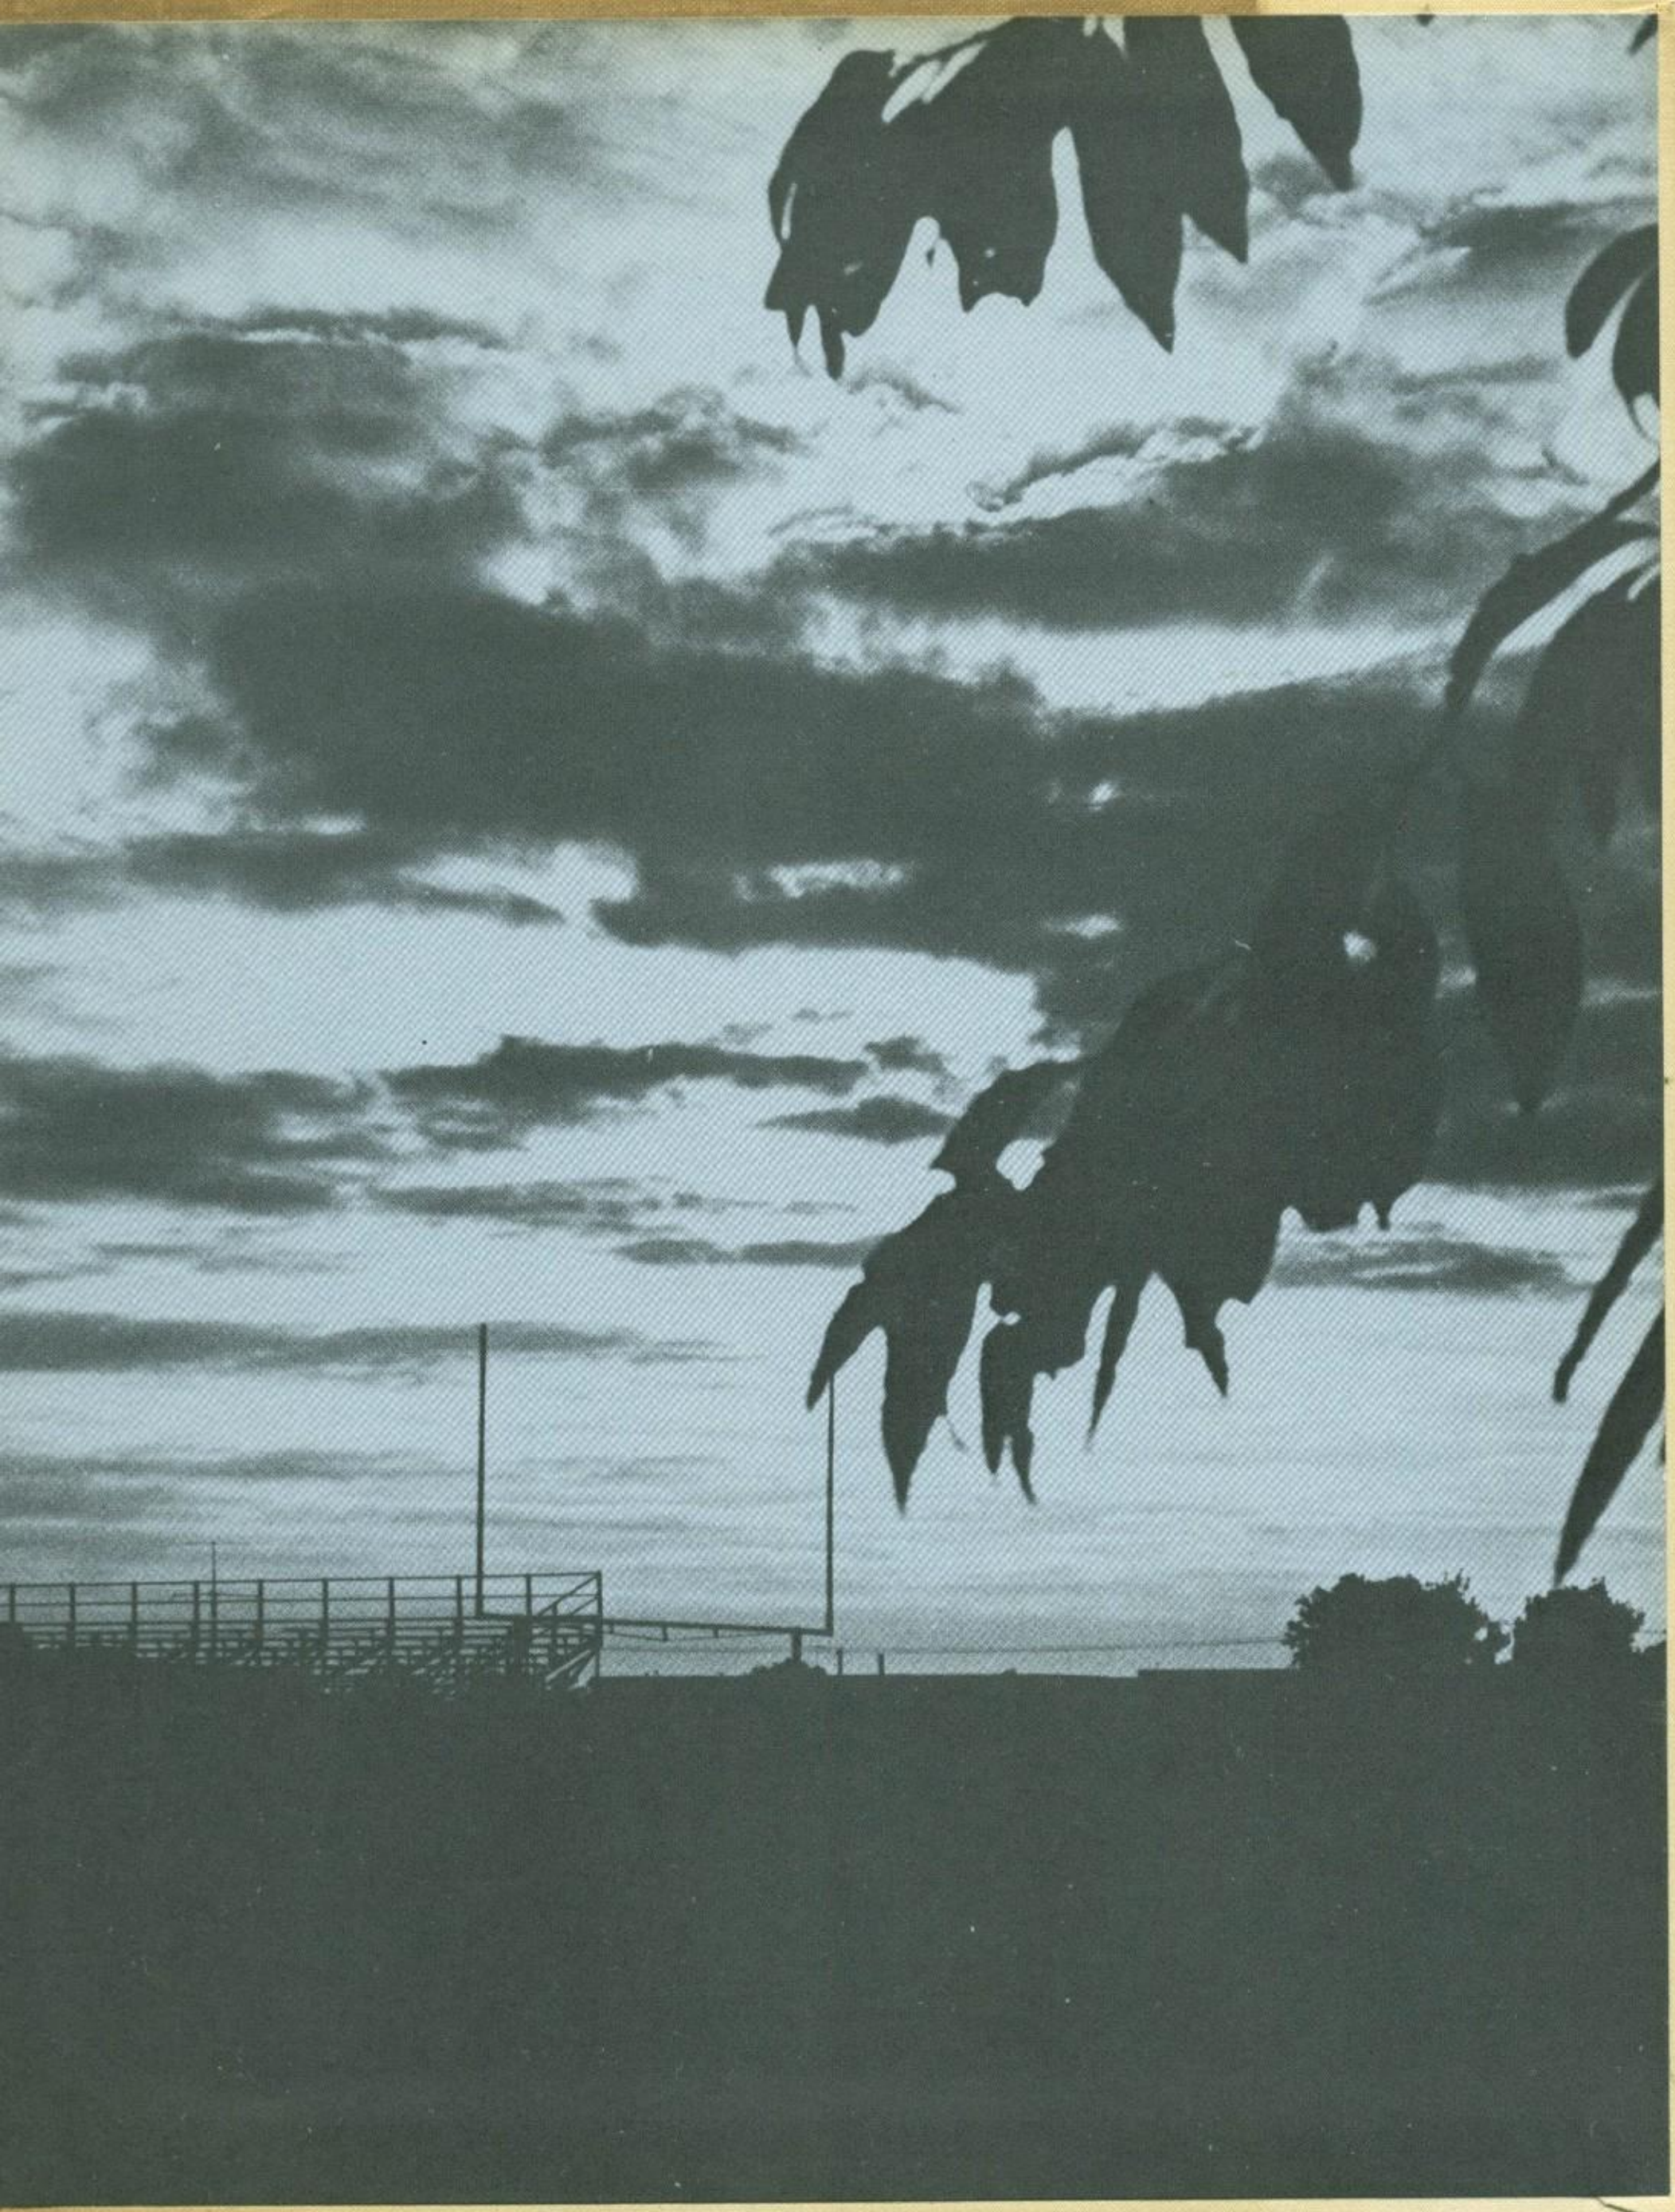
(a favorite castle),
for a while at least.

Norma Kopman

The day is done, and the darkness
Falls from the wings of Night,
As a feather is wafted downward
From an eagle in his flight.

I see the lights of the village
Gleam through the rain and the mist,
And a feeling of sadness comes o'er me,
That my soul cannot resist:

A feeling of sadness and longing,
That is not akin to pain,
And resembles sorrow only
As the mist resembles the rain.




Henry Wadsworth Longfellow
